"IF THE SHOE FITS YOU—
THEN WEAR IT"

—By—
ADAM LIAR

Down in Oklahoma, according to the daily press, there lives a woman. Of course there are several women in that country, at least I am told so. But this particular woman is an old maid, one of the maiden ladies if you please. I guess she has been doing considerable worrying for some years but her latest worry is reported to be over the expected shortage of men when this big war is over. Looks like the good lady has it figured out that as her chances are mighty slim now, they will be worse later unless she can brace them up. So she does out a rattling good plan, maybe. She would continue to keep the earth populated by women conscription. It is a plan whereby those who desire may federate themselves into a club corporation and secure one man or the services of one man for the entire membership. She has considered the proposition and has decided that she and none of the others of the club want anything around but A. No. 1 articles. No second or third raters is going to be permitted to scoff off these preserves of the race of mankind.

Gosh, all hemlocks. What are we men coming to anyway. Are a bunch of women going to grade us according to size, weight, etc., like they grade spuds and apples, and oranges, etc. Is it possible that they will have us examined and then put on the block. Wonder if they would maul us and go at us like I have seen some of them do at a bargain sale. Golly, but it would be some job to keep pace in the family with a half dozen old maids battling off the smiles of the one poor man.

It may be a fine idea, but if this old maid keeps it up, I'll bet she'll be keeping company with a bunch of squirrels in one of those old fashioned squirrel houses before long.

Ye gods and little fishes! There are sure some queer ones in this old burg. But at that I guess Alliance isn't much the worse off than a lot of other places I have heard of. I was walking down unpaved Box Butte avenue this morning when I saw a sight. Of course one sees more or less sights if he chances to be along unpaved Box Butte avenue much. But this particular sight was staged by two sights. They were good looking, too. One walked up to the other and proceeded to "hand it to her." I didn't find out what they were scrapping about—possibly a man, or any number of subjects. However, I couldn't help but think it was a poor place to stage an affair of this kind. Manners—there sure wasn't any highbrow stuff pulled in this instance. But I guess they expressed their real opinions, and were their real selves.

Some persons there are who think of good manners simply as bowing at the proper angle at meeting, shaking hands with the prescribed number of fingers and observing the other niceties of social usage without regard for their true meaning. These persons fail to appreciate that good manners, as we all know them, were not devised simply as a code of conduct to be learned and practiced by rote, but as an easy natural means of expressing the heartfelt respect and sincere gallantry of one person towards another. Manners are but the outside, the paint on the solid furniture beneath, the clothes which cover the true person within. They are but the indicator, the guide and tag which shows what one may expect from the person hiding behind them. It is better to make manners accurate guides and not deceivers or false indicators. It would be better to employ social usages which express what we are, nothing more, nothing less. Personally I consider it more to the credit of a person to eat peas with a knife than to mince about in the approved way, providing the knife wielding method more properly expresses what the person is. Above all, we should be sincere, making our outside as expressed by manners a truthful manifestation of inner character and consciousness.

And so sometimes the public gets our real number by some unconscious slip of ours. Some of us can hide our true selves behind so-called manners for a time, but our true selves will out.

Some New York women are urging changes in styles to effect a greater economy in face of the present crisis. Personally, I can't see how clothes—I mean women's clothes, could be made with much less cloth than they've been using for several years past.

About the only increase which will interfere with my enjoyment of my luxuriously equipped twin six this summer is that in the increase of sole leather. I may have to resort to the fibre variety as a final resort.

I met the lovely creature on upper unpaved Box Butte avenue last evening. She was crying. "Dear me!" the lovely creature quavered, while the great salt tears trickled down her complexion. "I'd think Jack's just so queer. Geraldine's fellow gave her the most beautiful basket of potatoes for her birthday, and Jack just gave me some old cheap roses."

Well, bring in your dope. I'm waiting for you.

That flag that has been flying from the pole on top of the City Hall looks to me like it might have been thru a terrible battle. If someone would shoot a load of shot thru it, no one would deny its right to the claim. Looks pretty bad. As old Uncle Josh says, "A word to the wise should be sufficient."

I'm not strong for some of this poetry myself, but some of it is better than others. Frank Spon, the barber who holds forth on unpaved Box Butte avenue at the connection with Second street, is either some pretty good poet or else he has pretty good judgment. He's circulating a card of his "round and on the back it has "The Kaiser's Nightmare." It reads thusly:

THE KAISER'S NIGHTMARE

Mine Got vill you be mine partner? You don't know who I am. But I'm the German Kizzer, Or Emperor Will-yam. You know I vipped them Belgians. Und mit bullets fill Russians full. Und in 1811 vipp France and Italy. Und blow up Johnny Bull. For all dem odder nations, I didn't give a dam. If you will be mine partner, Und vipp dot Uncle Sam. You know I got dem Submarines. All Europe knows dem vell: But Edison's got a patent out. Vot blows dem all to hell. Now Got if you will do this Den you and I will always luff. Und I'll be Emperor on earth Und you be Emperor abuff. But Got if you refuse me Tis, To-morrow night at seven, I vill call out all my zeppelins Und declare war on Heaven. I wouldn't ask dis favor Got. But I can plainly see. Dot when Edison pushes dot button in. I got no more submarine.

On Sunday, May 20th, the pastor, Rev. A. L. Layton, will speak in the morning on "The Lord's Supper, How Restricted?" In the evening the service will begin at 8 o'clock. Young people's meeting at 7 o'clock.

NEBRASKA STATE RAILWAY COMMISSION AUTHORIZES MILLION DOLLAR ISSUE

A news item which is of considerable interest to Nebraska people who are watching the growth and expansion of the middle-west in every direction was the recent granting of permission by the Nebraska State

Railway Commission to the North American Hotel Company, after a most exhaustive investigation of this Company's securities, to place $1,000,000 worth of its Preferred Stock in this state.

The North American Hotel Company is incorporated under the Iowa corporation laws, which are widely and favorably known for their very stringent requirements governing the issue and sale of stock.

The North American Hotel Company, besides its present properties, is building hotels at Kearney, Scottsbluff and Grand Island in Nebraska; another is being erected at Hampton, Iowa, and work is to start soon on a 280-room hotel building at Sioux City, Iowa. According to a prominent business and hotel man connected with this Company the present buildings under way by the North American Hotel Company are only a good start in the direction of what will soon be one of the largest chains of modern hotels in the entire country—most of which will be right here in the middle-west where the demand for this class of buildings is constantly growing greater and greater as this territory expands in a business way.

CATTLE SCAB

Thirteen counties and parts of counties in the northwestern part of the state have been in quarantine on account of cattle scab for about 20 years. Twelve years ago the whole state was in quarantine, but through the efforts of the different sanitary officials, state and federal, the territory has been reduced until for the past 5 years, only 13 counties are held in quarantine.

The only method of eradicating cattle scab is through "dipping" and since these 13 counties have been unable to get rid of scab, the legislature passed a law recently, making it compulsory for owners of cattle found affected with scabies, to dip under the supervision of the Live Stock Sanitary Board, or some of its agents.

It is estimated by cattle owners that the 13 counties should be clear of scab within the next two or three years, if the law referred to is of assistance it is expected to be.

The Live Stock Sanitary Board will have printed copies of the scab law and the serum law for free distribu-

What Does Catarrh Mean?

It means inflammation of a mucous membrane somewhere in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, biliary ducts or bowels. It always means stagnant blood—the blood that is full of impurities. Left alone, it extends until it is followed by indigestion, colds, congestion or fever. It weakens the system generally and spreads its operations until systemic catarrh or an acute illness is the result.

Peruna

Is the nation's reliable remedy for this condition. It restores appetite, aids digestion, checks and removes inflammation, and thus enables the membranes, through which we breathe and through which our food is absorbed, to do their work properly. Forty-four years of success, with thousands of testimonials, have established it as the home remedy—Ever-Ready-to-Take. Its record of success holds a promise for you.
